

MACROKIOSK

Senior Consultant, Unity Platform (Malaysia)

Job Responsibilities:

- Understand and interpret market opportunity and product requirements.
- Engage stakeholders from various departments and divisions and compile business/operations requirements into meaningful User Requirement documents.
- Own and manage the product backlog for a key stream in our product management team, play the role of Product Owner in a scrum environment. You will be required to write crystal clear user stories and be a master planner.
- Work closely with head of product, operation team, UX lead, scrum master, tech lead and development team to ensure business requirements are translated into actual deliverables and operationalised.
- Prepare wireframe or mock-up for discussion during concept sharing with stakeholder.
- Manage the entire product line life cycle and its profitability/usability.
- Work on analytic reporting for each product units.
- Maintain and support the request from internal departments.
- Enhance and maintain the product system.

Requirements:

- Possess a Degree in Information Technology, Computer Science, Electronics/Informatics or Engineering or its equivalent.
- At least 3 years relevant product development experience. Candidate with technical project management experience is encouraged to apply.
- Good verbal and written English and Bahasa Malaysia communication skills.
- Knowledge of other languages would be an advantage.
- Personality traits - pleasant personality, good attitude, self-motivated, enthusiastic, meticulous, result-oriented, responsible, independent, trustworthy, ethical and team player.
- Preferably with working background from operation and digital transformation.
- Excellence in writing clearly and concisely for internal technical and non-technical audience based on product requirements. Ability to quickly grasp and communicate technology and technical concepts.
- Have sufficient technical understanding to debate across all levels of the organisation on analytics, agile methodologies, responsive design, code quality, system scalability and site reliability without skipping a beat.
- Knowledge/experience in Scrum Methodology is an added advantage.

* Only shortlisted candidates will be notified.